Soviet Union Readies Bombers for Removal From Cuba

First Shipload To Leave Soon, Officials Say

JFK, Nikita Agree To Have U.S. Navy Observe Operation

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union has started packing up its nuclear-capable jet bombers in Cuba and moving them to ports for shipment back to Russia, U.S. officials said today.

The first shipload is expected to move out soon. By agreement between Premier Khrushchev and President Kennedy this and subsequent ships will be subject to U.S. naval observation as were the 42 nuclear missiles removed earlier this month.

Withdrawal of the bombers will complete the second phase of Khrushchev's nuclear weapons retreat from the Caribbean, the removal of the big missiles having constituted the end of the first and most dangerous phase.

But top American officials foresee that remaining issues in the crisis may drag on unsettled for weeks or months.

Other Issues Remain Tense

A round of high-level talks here during the past two days appears to have served to sharpen rather than to soften the U.S.-Soviet disagreements over these remaining issues.

Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan is flying home this weekend to report to Khrushchev on his conferences with Kennedy and with Secretary of State Dean Rusk—as well as his earlier sessions at Havana with Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Information from American sources indicates that Mikoyan will have to tell Khrushchev that Kennedy is unshakably determined to maintain an aerial watch over Cuba indefinitely unless reliable ground inspection is provided. Castro, in his meetings with Mikoyan, flatly refused to permit such inspection.

Verification Is Critical

From Kennedy's viewpoint the issue of verification, which was originally promised by Khrushchev at the height of the Cuban crisis, is the most critical of the remaining Cuban issues, particularly in view of persistent claims of anti-Castro refugees that Soviet nuclear weapons have been hidden among Cuba's many caves.

At the same time it appears that from the Soviet viewpoint continued flights over Cuba by U.S. reconnaissance aircraft constitutes a difficult problem, and it is understood that Mikoyan told Kennedy that the Soviet considered the flights an irritant in American-Russian relations.

Mikoyan is understood to have pressed the President for agreement to issue without delay a formal no-invasion pledge which the Russians would prefer to have as a signed statement registered with the United Nations.

Kennedy is understood to have

Indian Administrators To Take Over Vacated Land

Red Chinese Say They Have Started Promised Retreat

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Indian civilian administrators will take over territory vacated by Red Chinese troops, a government spokesman said today. But he did not confirm that the Communists actually had started pulling back along the misty Himalayan borderlands.

Peking announced the withdrawals, as promised, were beginning. It said it expected the Indians to pull back and leave a 25-mile demilitarized strip or face a renewal of fighting.

An Indian army chief of staff flew over Chinese-occupied areas on the northeast frontier but was unable to determine of the Red troops were moving back. Other army officers peering through mountain mists reported it may take days to confirm the announced withdrawals.

A Foreign Ministry spokesman declined to tell newsmen what Indian military forces intended to do about the Chinese withdrawals. In one area, he said, Indian patrols had been ordered to go forward for the promised release of Indian prisoners by the Chinese.

As for the Ladakh area in the northwest, where the Chinese have made their greatest gains, "we are watching the situation," the spokesman said. "India is watching, particularly in view of the fact that while the Chinese, in accordance with their announcement, are required to withdraw 12½ miles from their present positions, we are required to withdraw 12½ miles further into our territory," he added.

As for the movement of civilians into the vacated areas, the spokesman said this will be carried out depending upon the situation as it develops.

He refused to elaborate. "This is the maximum information," he said.

Business Outlook Brightens

Auto Sales Soar, Steel Output Up

By JACK LEFLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Booming automobile sales and a resurgence in steel production further brightened the business arena this week.

They were helped by an unexpected surge in appliance sales, a fast start on the Christmas buying season and continued good corporate dividend actions.

All of these things tended to push back thoughts of possibility of a business recession early next year.

And they kept the stock market's advance rolling through its fifth week, although at a slower and more erratic pace.

The high volume of automobile sales gladdened and surprised the carmakers. Deliveries were near 225,000 in the Nov. 11-20 period, 22 per cent ahead of a year earlier and a record for the period.

Deliveries have set records in each 10-day period since the first third of October. As a result, inventories have been reduced sharply.

Production rose to a new 1962 weekly high with an estimated 170,000 passenger cars coming off the assembly lines this week, compared with 133,010 last week.

The steel industry's increased output goes hand in hand with the pace of the automobile industry. Mills last week operated at nearly 65 per cent of capacity, turning out 1,844,000 tons, a gain of 3.5 per cent over the previous week.

The boom in sales of appliances caused some manufacturers to increase their production schedules in the pre-Christmas weeks, a period in which sales of these products usually go down.

In the first 10 months of this year, sales of refrigerators, ranges, washers and other appliances ran about 9 per cent ahead of the like 1961 period. Currently they are showing a gain of 5

Pope John Improved, Doctors Say

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Vatican authorities today announced further improvement in the condition of Pope John XXIII and said no surgery was in prospect.

An informal statement, read to newsmen at the Vatican press office, ruled out surgery. It was issued after the Pope's doctors included a leading Italian surgeon in their consultations.

He visited the 81-year-old Roman Catholic ruler Thursday night and again Friday night.

The pontiff's personal physician, Prof. Antonio Gasbarrini, returned to the Pope's bedside earlier today to keep close watch on him.

Gasbarrini, who lives in Bologna, had planned to return there this weekend but postponed his departure. His decision to remain here indicated continued concern about the pontiff's health.

Pope John is suffering from a stomach disorder, believed to be an ulcer, and what the Vatican has called rather intense anemia. He also has a prostate condition.

Dr. Gasbarrini said Friday, however, that the prostate was not cancerous and denied there were plans to operate.

The Pope became ill Tuesday and canceled an audience on short notice. Since then he has been confined to his apartment on the fourth floor of the Apostolic Palace.

Chlorine Gas Overcomes 100

35 Hospitalized In Ontario City

CORNWALL, Ont. (AP) — A deadly fog of chlorine gas spreading from a leaky railroad tank car felled about 100 coughing, vomiting persons Friday night and for six hours threatened to force evacuation of a large part of Cornwall's 43,000 residents from the city.

Winds carried the pungent yellow gas away from Cornwall and officials early today declared the city out of immediate danger.

Thirty-five persons kept in hospitals were reported in satisfactory condition. The others were discharged after treatment.

Emergency teams evacuated 200 persons from the northeastern outskirts of Cornwall and sealed off the area.

Cornwall is across the St. Lawrence River from Massena, N.Y. Railway workers discovered the gas leaking from the tanker at a siding. It was filled Friday at the

Group Built First Atomic Pile

Anniversary of 'A-Age' Marked by Scientists

CHICAGO (AP) — Thirty-two scientists who witnessed the birth of the atomic age gathered in Chicago today to commemorate the 20th anniversary of one of the century's most momentous events.

The scientists were members of the research team that under the leadership of the late Enrico Fermi designed and built the atomic pile where the first self-sustaining controlled nuclear chain reaction occurred.

The historic moment occurred at 3:25 p.m. Dec. 2, 1942. The gathering today began a weekend of various commemorative events in Chicago, Washington, New York and elsewhere.

Among those attending the meeting in Chicago today was Enrico Fermi's widow. Fermi was an Italian immigrant who after World War II joined the staff of the University of Chicago's Institute of Nuclear Studies. He died in Chicago in 1954.

The atomic pile built by Fermi and his fellow scientists measured 30 by 32 feet and was 21 feet high. It was located under the west stands of Stagg Field, the long unused University of Chicago football stadium. It was composed of 52 tons of uranium and 472 tons of graphite.

In February 1943, the pile was torn down and reassembled in a forest preserve west of Chicago where it was used in research. That research later led to the atomic bomb.

The reunion of the scientists began with a private reception on the University of Chicago campus within sight of the spot where the atomic pile once stood. The Stagg

Observer Reviews Pleasant November

Weather Outlook Good This Month

The Indian summer weather of the past week is not likely to continue, but December should be marked by above-average temperatures, District Weather Observer Edwin Copeland declared today.

The mercury climbed a little higher each day during the past week, records show, going from a 43 maximum Monday to 47 Tuesday, 54 on Wednesday, 56 on Thursday, 60 Friday and 66 today.

In reviewing November weather, Copeland pointed out that both temperatures and rainfall were slightly below average in November and the year as a whole is 5.85 inches short of rainfall, he said. The average temperature last month was 39.2 degrees compared to the 70-year normal of 39.6. Rainfall totaled 2.26 inches compared to 2.41 inches which is normal for November.

Sunshine was a normal 30 per cent last month, with 18 days cloudy, six partly cloudy and six days clear.

The high temperature last month was 61 degrees on Friday. The low was 17 degrees Nov. 26.

Eight months this year have had below average temperatures, Copeland reported.

The dry fall has been favorable for farmers to complete their work and all is in readiness for winter, he said.

Weather Sunny, Warm Across U.S.

By The Associated Press December eased in quietly today with most of the nation enjoying pleasant weather in the wake of record-setting warm temperatures.

Most of the East Coast lay under a heavy mixture of fog and smoke, while isolated portions of the West were hit with snow.

But generally December took up where November left off — warm weather with some snow and rain, and lacking the usual vehemence of oncoming winter.

The fog that coated most of the East was blamed for the crash of a four-engine Eastern Air Lines DCTB Friday night that killed 25 of the 51 persons aboard as the plane neared New York's Idlewild Airport.

Doyle Urban, research meteorologist for Taft Sanitary Center in Columbus, Ohio, said conditions have been right for the overcast since Wednesday. He said a high pressure area settled over the area, then moved westward, packing down dust over Eastern cities that usually is swept out to sea.

Urban said the fog condition probably would clear up by Sunday.

Rough seas continued to batter the northeastern Florida coast, where warnings for gale force winds remained in force from St. Augustine north to Savannah, Ga.

City, county and state work crews battled to halt beach erosion which has caused an estimated $500,000 damage in the Jacksonville area.

Bulldozers rushed soil and broken cinder blocks into cavities on the city's seawall.

Unseasonably warm temperatures Friday broke records for Nov. 30 in several spots.

A 66 in Chicago shattered the record for that date and 59s recorded in Rochester, Minn., and Milwaukee erased records. Another record was set in Green Bay, Wis., when 58 warm degrees ended November.

Dispute Arises Over Space Job

Company Files Suit To Retain Expert

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — An injunction hearing brought by B.F. Goodrich Co. against International Latex Co. to prevent space suit expert Donald Wohlgenuth from leaving Goodrich to take a job with the Dover, Del., firm, was thrown into an uproar in Common Pleas Court.

The surprise came Friday when Goodrich attacked the educational qualifications of International Latex' chief witness, Leonard Shepard, industrial production director who then admitted he had testified falsely.

Goodrich claims, in seeking the injunction, that Wohlgenuth had signed a contract not to take a job with another firm producing space suits. International Latex has the government contract to make space suits for the Apollo Moon Project.

In his testimony, Shepard said he went through Massachusetts Institute of Technology in three years to receive a degree in electrical engineering, then took two years of additional study at Syracuse University.

In cross examination, Goodrich's chief counsel, R. G. Jeter, read a letter from W. P. Wells, associate registrar of M.I.T., which said in part:

"This is to certify Leonard Frank Shepard attended Massachusetts Institute of Technology as a first year student from July 9, 1945 to July 27, 1945, at which time he voluntarily withdrew..."

Mrs. Paul Salmen Is Traffic Victim

Mrs. Mary Salmen, 79, of 1736 Evergreen St., Detroit, was killed instantly Thursday night at 5 when hit by a car near her home as she returned from a street corner mailbox.

A former resident of the Lisbon Road near Lisbon, she and her husband, Paul, moved to Detroit 20 years ago.

A native of Romania, where she was born Oct. 16, 1883, she was the daughter of Mathias and Maria Ramsuer. She and Mr. Salmen were married in October, 1904.

Also surviving are three sons, Michael of Salem, John of Ferndale, Mich., Peter of Birmingham, Mich.; one daughter, Mrs. Mary Gottschling of Oak Park, Mich., 17 grandchildren and 26 great-grandchildren, and two brothers in Europe.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m. at the Stark Memorial, in charge of the Rev. Richard D. Freseman of the Emmanuel Lutheran Church. Burial will be in Grandview Cemetery.

Friends may call Monday evening at the funeral home.

Mishap Occurs During Landing Attempt In Fog

26 Escape As Craft Splits Open on Impact At Idlewild

NEW YORK (AP)—A four-engine airliner, feeling its way toward a landing through a hole in the fog smothering Idlewild Airport Friday night, crashed and burned, killing 25 of 51 persons aboard.

Survivors scrambled through emergency exits, crawling and running from the flames that engulfed the forward portion of the propeller-driven Eastern Air Lines DCTB, arriving from Charlotte, N.C.

Covered By Fog Idlewild had been completely covered by fog earlier in the evening and Capt. Edward Bechtold, a veteran frequently used as an expert cross-examiner in government inquiries into crashes, told the passengers he might try to land at Philadelphia.

"We don't know what made him change his mind," said Leonard Clementi of Huntington, Long Island, one of the injured survivors.

Another passenger, Lou Louft, a movie producer from Dover, N.J., recalled the pilot announcing: "We can make it. There is a little hole. We should be down in about six minutes."

On instrument control, the big airliner started descending from the eastern side of the busy airport on Long Island, the side toward Queens, Brooklyn and Manhattan.

"We could see the lights as we

Ecumenical Council OK's Unity Decree

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Roman Catholic Ecumenical Council today approved a decree on relations with Orthodox churches. It then began discussion of a major thesis on the nature of the Roman Catholic Church.

The decree on orthodoxy was first document that the council took up dealing directly with Christian unity.

But the thesis on the nature of the Roman Catholic Church—discussing such matters as infallibility—also is considered important in current efforts for improved interchurch relations.

A communique said the decree on unity—called "Ut unum sint" (that they be one) was approved by a vote of 2,068-36. Eight ballots were null.

The communique said the council fathers, in voting approval of the decree, recommended it be made part of a single document including decrees on Christian unity drafted by the Vatican's secretariat for promoting Christian unity and by the council's Theological Preparatory Commission.

The unity thesis approved today was prepared by a commission on the Oriental churches. The text was not made public immediately but it is known to review past relations between orthodoxy and Roman Catholicism, with the hope of improvement. It specifically states that the Roman Catholic Church, in seeking such improvement, must not compromise its doctrines.

The theological commission's document on Christian unity is part of the thesis that the council fathers started to discuss today. The thesis is expected to have rough sailing in the council: In-

Little Boy Writes Kennedy Because of Missing 'Canyon'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Not very long ago practically every boy had his "canyon" — a magical place that in a twinkling became battlefield or jungle.

Scott Peter Turner, 7, of San Diego, Calif., had just such a place where he hunted lizards, where he could play games or just be a boy.

But like thousands of other canyons, Scott's was gobbled up by a housing project when his back was turned.

It was a sad discovery and Scott hurried home and taking pencil in hand printed this plea to President Kennedy:

"Dear Mr. President, We have no place to go out in the canyon because there are going to build houses so could you set aside some land where we could play? Thank you four listening love Scott."

Scott's father added an accompanying note to "emphasize the honest motivation which drove him (Scott) to seek help from the highest power of the land."

His son, he wrote, had gone off to some previously open land to hunt lizards, only to find one area had been pre-empted by a field restricted to organized play and beyond that other "canyons" had been taken over by home construction.

Secretary of Interior Stewart L. Udall was assigned the job of replying to Scott. He made public the exchange Thursday.

"The President sent your letter to me to answer because the feelings you expressed so well in your letter are his feelings too, and I am the man he has appointed to try to correct the conditions which are making you unhappy."

"President Kennedy and I have a great awareness of the needs you feel—the need to be able to hunt lizards and follow ants and maybe just lie in the sun on your back and watch the changing shapes of clouds—all alone."

Udall pointed out that the last Congress had established three new national seashores, including Point Reyes in California which has "wide sand beaches, wind-swept caves, forests and lots of room for a wide-eyed boy."

"I am more sorry than I can say that you lost your canyon playground," Udall concluded. "I hope you will be able to find another one not too far away."

Scott was pleased with the reply.

"Good," he told a newsman. "Now we're getting somewhere."

And how did the whole business start? Explained Scott: "This gang of mine, we were going to catch a lizard to scare a girl."

'Meaningful Drama' Is New Trend In TV

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK AP) — Robert Sarnoff, board chairman of the National Broadcasting Co., occasionally fires off a communique to the nation's television editors, and his most recent one, this week, dealt with "meaningful drama."

As a case in point, Sarnoff used a recent episode of the NBC "Eleventh Hour" series that's the Wednesday night show about psychiatry and psychology. It dealt with a 15-year-old girl who had gotten, to use an old-fashioned phrase, in trouble.

He noted that, although the theme appeared daring, it was handled with responsibility and good taste and that the network later received requests from schools, churches and PTA groups for prints to show teenagers and their parents.

DEN HAS DINNER

SUMMITVILLE — Mrs. Aubra Booth and Mrs. James Knight, den mothers of Den 1, Pack 47, Cub Scouts, held a Thanksgiving dinner Thursday night at Summitville School for the cubs and their families, with 35 attending.

Guests were Rev. Boyd Burd and Mayor Ernest Phillips.

Aubra Booth is cubmaster; Charles Crawford, assistant cubmaster; John Wargo, executive committeeman. Mrs. Ernest Phillips is first aid instructor.

There are seven boys in the den.

Armed with Sarnoff's definition of "meaningful drama" ("dealing with mature subjects, controversial themes or problems of direct pertinence to real people in real life.") I tuned in this week's episode of "The Eleventh Hour."

It was the story of a 19-year-old boy charged with the rape-murder of a classmate.

The story opened as the boy, with blood on his hands and a strange look on his face, was running away from the body of the girl. But in the end, it turned out that he hadn't done it at all—he had an aggressive, demanding father who had tried to get him to kill a rabbit when he was 11.

It seems to this viewer, who has been exposed to short courses in psychiatry, surgery and internal medicine during the past couple of seasons, that television drama is getting less dramatic as it goes in, more and more, for enacting case histories.

Sarnoff ticks off a few of the themes treated in NBC programs this year—including intolerance, juvenile delinquency, an expectant mother's fear of childbirth, a young child's hostility to an older brother.

I have seen so many sordid situations explored in television the past two seasons that it would be easy to believe that most children have their parents, that most parents are too demanding or too unconcerned, that most people solve their problems by alcohol, drugs, homicide or suicide. Old dramatic themes are dressed up with sick characters seeking revenge for imaginary wrongs, burdened with senseless fears, strange compulsions. I've gotten so injured to "meaningful drama" that I accept stories dealing with abortion, narcotic addiction and juvenile gang warfare as routine.

They are presented as entertainment, these dreary case histories. But for the most part they don't have a climax—they merely raise questions to which, to date, no one seems to have found answers.

Elkton

The Court of Honor of Boy Scout Troop 108 met Tuesday at the Parish Hall with 18 boys in attendance.

Dale Moore was awarded the Star award and Steven Harrold received two merit badges and a Camporee Patch. Richard Spooner and Larry Mullen also received the Camporee Patch.

Twelve members of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Elkton Methodist Church attended a meeting Tuesday at the Leetonia Methodist Church. The program consisted of music and slides of Newfoundland.

The Leetonia group is the Elkton group's sister society. Lunch was served.

"Jolly Eight" card club met Wednesday with Mrs. Clifford Ward as hostess. Mrs. Ralph Moore of Elkton, Mrs. Bruce Sullivan of Lisbon and Mrs. Sid Scroggs of Elkton-Lisbon Rd. were prize winners.

Members will have supper at the Lisbon Wick Hotel Dec. 12. A gift exchange will be held and the group will go to the Sullivan home for the remainder of the evening.

LUTHERANS BELIEVE...

That the Christ Child looked like any other baby.

Yes, He looked like any Hebrew baby of His day. He did plenty of sleeping. He got hungry. He cried. And, as He grew up, He looked like any other boy in Nazareth.

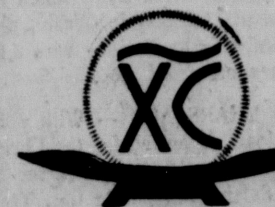

Yet, when He was older and started preaching, He claimed to be God. At one point in His life He declared in no uncertain terms, "He that hath seen me hath seen the Father."

That a baby, born of a woman, in a stable, in an insignificant land, should claim to be God is an offense to some people, but not to a Lutheran.

To a Lutheran this is a miracle... a miracle performed by the God of creation, in order that He might show man His love by sending His Son to become a man, living among men, feeding and healing men, and finally dying on a cross for man.

It was more than a human baby who came that first Christmas Day—it was God in the flesh... and that's a miracle!

Hence, Lutherans believe God became man and was born of a virgin and was called Jesus Christ.

The Evening Star

The brilliant evening star is a symbol of many things to many folk. Mariners hail it as a good omen, for it usually forecasts a clear, calm night and smooth sailing. The shepherd tending his flock on a desolate hill-side gratefully notes its appearance in the heavens, for its friendly light offers an intangible sort of companionship during his lonely vigil. To many, the star is representative of God's infinite power and wisdom.

Just as this star touches hearts in countless different ways, so may the Church bring to those in all walks of life, peace and comfort which lead to a happier, more fruitful pattern of life.

Let us make the Church our guiding light. We can brighten our lives if we accept the teaching of the Scriptures as guideposts along the pathway to future endeavors.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Airline Accidents In Cycles

It is undeniable that commercial airline accidents seem to fall into a pattern of cycles.

One accident begets another until management, pilots and passengers are in a state of frenzy, then there is a lull.

Even though a detailed study of the cycles might reveal they are less well-defined than the news makes them seem to be, they exist. Six accidents in six days indicate that the current cycle may have reached its climax.

Late last May and early June a cycle reached a climax at three major disasters and subsided during the summer months. The point is that airline operation has become so constant and stabilized accidents cannot be blamed on special factors, like auto accidents caused by heavy travel on holidays and weekends.

Mishaps arise from the unforeseen, even from the unforeseeable. Why they should occur in streaks is a mystery, though it is better that they are not spaced out in such a way as to leave a continuous impression of danger.

It must be like the grouping of mishaps in our daily lives—the near certainty that if a shoestring breaks first thing in the morning it will be a bad day and the wisest thing would be to go back to bed and avoid it.

Perhaps the airlines someday will reach a point of apprehension that will cause them to ground everything that flies after two accidents in a row, thereby breaking the chain that might lead to a third, a fourth and so on.

Saved By the Bell

One of the jobs cut out for U.S. Budget Director David E. Bell when he becomes foreign aid administrator next January is to make taxpayers thump with joy about spending billions each year to lift up tottering brothers.

The rest of Mr. Bell's job will be easy. He will be able to get foreign aid past Congress, because that's an old story. Each year the administration asks for much more than it expects to get, screams in anguish when it is forced to settle for less and then lives happily until the next time.

He probably can make inroads on the inefficiency of the monstrosity known as Aid for International Development—AID. Fowler Hamilton who is on the job now was supposed to do something about this and didn't, but he was a lawyer taking a flier in government whereas Mr. Bell is a student of administrative practice, who expects to be around a while.

BUT ABOUT making taxpayers thump with joy about helping people like the late Trujillo in the Dominican Republic and Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia—that's an assignment!

Too many taxpayers know too many things. They know that money never bought a friend. Also that money bestowed on others breeds ingratitude; that money must be earned to be appreciated.

They know that foreign aid money does not filter down to the grass roots like gentle rain from heaven but is sopped up like gravy in pieces of absorbent bread—and that the bread usually is in the hands of politicians in the countries receiving foreign aid.

Experience warns a taxpayer that when money is being ladled out there is a Parkinson's law that causes need to expand to absorb all the money available.

Let it be granted, argue U.S. taxpayers, that foreign aid put a floor under the economic disintegration of countries that were almost desperate enough to fall to communism. Let it be granted that a large part of foreign aid was worth the cost.

But then let it be granted that billions were piddled away and Americans resent this kind of liberality with their money.

FINALLY, let it be granted the time has come to knock off the foreign aid program and the vested job rights of thousands of people who have been making a career of giving away this nation's wealth to countries that wouldn't give the United States the run of their trashpiles if this country were down and out and starving.

If Mr. Bell will do this, AID can be saved—what's left of it, which should be well under a billion a year.

Not Worth the Risk

There has been no noticeable response to date from the Republican National Committee to the editors of a publication for young Republicans—Advance.

They had objected to what they feared might turn into a Republican bid for support from Southern segregationists. They had sensed danger in post-election statements about significant Republican gains in the South. The gains, they warned, also could be ominous.

The danger lies in the fact that Republican conservatism has become politically attractive to Southern political figures who also are segregationists. Granting that Southern political figures are segregationists by necessity if not by choice, the editors of Advance wanted to be sure the Republican National Committee did not make the mistake of tarring the party with the same stick that has marked the schism in the Democratic party.

That is the catch in the problem the editors of Advance have called to attention. The Democratic party is not visibly handicapped by the fact its leaders in the South refuse to go along with the civil rights program of their Northern brothers.

The party's Negro adherents in Northern cities seem willing to overlook this inconsistency when it crops out in the Democratic party.

But the Republican party is up against a different proposition. It is trying to make itself attractive to Negro voters. It wants to gain converts. The Democratic party gained its Negro converts during the New Deal, when Franklin D. Roosevelt presided over a North-South coalition that gave the Democratic party four presidential elections in a row and has given it what appears to be a permanent majority in Congress, thanks in large measure to strong support by Negro voters in large cities.

It will not work that way for Republicans. Northern Negroes will hold their party responsible if it takes responsibility for Southern segregationists in the illusion that this is incidental to being a conservative in economics.

The Republican National Committee's attention has been called to a district danger in the evolution of party principles. The editors of Advance deserve an answer.

Letter From Max

By Martin R. Miller

Dear Truman Twill:

Here are a few comments which may clarify or confuse your thinking.

It is sad to contemplate the different racial attitudes of the universities in Oxford, England, and Oxford, Miss., named for its sister city across the seas. Our British cousin have been educating fellow British citizens of all colors at their Oxford for centuries.

You know what the New York baseball coach at third base tells his runner there? "Yankee go home."

It hasn't been in the papers yet, but it is possible the Red Chinese were able to sweep through the Himalayas so fast because they recruited a brigade of abominable Snowmen in Tibet and trained and armed them. Abominable Snowmen should be the best mountain fighters in the universe.

When asked a year or so ago what he thought of the Cuban exile leaders in this country, a Cuban who had lived in the United States for years but maintained close ties with his homeland replied, "They are all crooks. I would line them up and shoot them."

A large part of the American public satisfies its animal yearning for violence by watching football games, especially pro games, but I think venturing out to drive a car on the streets fulfills the same instinct and is not vicarious. You can get hurt doing it.

We should be prepared to hear six years from now this Democratic refrain: Bobby Kennedy is the attorney general best prepared in the history of the United States to be president.

Faithfully yours,
MAX

History Proves Mikoyan Is Master of Deceit

The name of Anastas I. Mikoyan, first deputy premier of the Soviet Union, is again in the headlines. He is received by President Kennedy with dignity and forbearance. How much do the American people know or remember of the misdeeds and acts of treachery committed by Anastas Mikoyan in the crushing of the liberties of

David Lawrence
Anastas Mikoyan in the crushing of the liberties of people just six years ago this month?

Mikoyan is an emissary of Premier Khrushchev, so, as is customary, he is received by high officials of the government of the United States. But can his word be trusted?

The game of deception played by Anastas Mikoyan in the past is written plainly on the pages of history for all to read. In October, 1956, a new government was established after the anti-Communist revolt in Hungary. On Oct. 31, it took up with Mikoyan in Budapest—where he had been sent by the Kremlin—the question of the withdrawal of Soviet troops from Hungary. This Mikoyan promised would be done.

President Eisenhower in a radio and television talk on the same date said with respect to an announcement by the Soviet government on Oct. 30 that it would consider withdrawal of its troops from Romania and Poland, as well as Hungary: "If the Soviet Union indeed faithfully acts upon its announced intention, the world will witness the greatest forward stride toward justice, trust and understanding among nations in our generation."

WHAT HAPPENED? Not only were the troops retained in Hungary but additional units of the Soviet army poured in from Romania and on Nov. 4 attacked the Hungarians.

The anti-Communist movement was wiped out by overwhelming Soviet forces. The Hungarian delegation "negotiating" with the Soviets on the "withdrawal of troops" was imprisoned, and its leader later executed. The new premier, Imre Nagy, was arrested, deported to Romania, and subsequently executed. Hungarian appeals to the United Nations were of no avail.

The U.N. Security Council had met on Nov. 2 to discuss the "critical situation in Hungary." Soviet delegate Arkady A. Sobolev blandly assured the council that reports of a Soviet march on Hungary were "utterly unfounded."

Immediately after news of the Soviet attack on Hungary was received, the Security Council met again on Nov. 4. A resolution was introduced by the United States condemning the Soviet attack and calling for an on-the-spot investigation by the U.N. of the situation in Hungary. It was vetoed by the Soviet government, and one veto is enough to kill such a proposal.

The measure was passed by the General Assembly but the Soviet government—which, by then, was in full control in Hungary—refused permission for any commission to enter the country. None has ever gone there.

This is the sad story in which Mikoyan played a principal part. He was then—as he is today—a tool in the game of the Soviet government. He does what he is instructed to do, irrespective of whether it requires giving pledges that will not be kept or asserting facts that later prove to be false.

JUST A FEW weeks ago—on Oct. 22—President Kennedy, in a nationwide radio and television address, told the world of the deception that had been practiced by the Soviet Union in connection with the missile build-up in Cuba, including the fact that two Soviet foreign ministers, Gromyko, had come to the White House and had lied to him. Mr. Kennedy said:

"The size of this undertaking makes clear that it has been planned for some months. Yet only last month, after I had made clear the distinction between any introduction of ground-to-ground missiles and the existence of defensive anti-aircraft missiles, the Soviet government publicly stated on Sept. 11 that, and I quote, 'the armaments and military equipment sent to Cuba are designed exclusively for defensive purposes.'"

"That, and I quote the Soviet government, 'there is no need for the Soviet government to shift its weapons for a retaliatory blow to any other country, for instance Cuba,' and that, and I quote their government, 'the Soviet Union has so powerful rockets to carry these nuclear warheads that there is no need to search for sites for them beyond the boundaries of the Soviet Union.' That statement was false."

"Only last Thursday, as evidence of this rapid offensive build-up was already in my hand, Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko told me in my office that he was instructed to make it clear once again, as he said his government had already done, that Soviet assistance to Cuba, and I quote, 'pursued solely the purpose of contributing to the defense capabilities of Cuba,' that, and I quote him, 'training by Soviet specialists of Cuban nationals in handling defensive armaments was by no means offensive,' and that 'if it were otherwise,' Mr. Gromyko went on, 'the Soviet government would never become involved in rendering such assistance.' That statement also was false."

Now Deputy Premier Mikoyan is under instructions from Premier Khrushchev, just as was Foreign Minister Gromyko when he visited the White House. Can anything Mikoyan says be believed?

As of today, the United States has no assurance that on-site inspection in Cuba by the United Nations will be approved by the Mikoyan-Castro-Khrushchev team. Oddly enough, the details of the experiences with past deceptions seem to be swept aside as Deputy Premier Mikoyan is formerly received at the White House as an accredited emissary of the Soviet Union.

Matter of Fact

It might interest you to compare your income with the averages compiled in 1960. For the country as a whole during 1960, per capita personal income amounted to $2,223 as compared with $2,166 in 1959. By regions, 1960 per capita income was almost one-fifth above the national average in the West and Midwest and was more than one-fourth below it in the Southeast.

New Man On the Job

Johnson-Humphrey Ticket Eyed

Our Readers

By VICTOR RIESEL

A member of THE family soon will launch the boom or a trial balloon on which will be written: "Bob Kennedy for president in '68." Whether this season has been chosen by accident or strategic design, with or without the attorney general's knowledge and permission, the fact is that one of the trusted insiders will pique the public with the thought.

All this must be based on the presumption that Vice President Lyndon Johnson cannot be nominated for president because of northern liberal-labor opposition. This once was true.

No less a political scientist than the late "Mr. Sam" Rayburn so believed. He said so to former Ambassador Joe Kennedy, father of the President. They talked early in '59. The elder Mr. Kennedy had dropped in on the Democratic party elder statesman. As Mr. Sam later related the discussion, it went this way.

Mr. Kennedy believed his son John could not get the nomination. He believed that JFK should seek the presidency in two steps—first as vice president, then as the head of the ticket.

THE SENIOR Kennedy then suggested that Mr. Rayburn attempt to win the top spot for Lyndon Johnson. Rayburn replied he'd like a Johnson-Kennedy ticket. But he did not believe the northern bloc would permit the Texan to break through.

The rest is history, but in this instance the past is not prelude.

Mr. Johnson today has greater northern labor support than any other vice president ever had. Accomplishing this has not been easy. He has had to move as swiftly and constantly as did a secretary of labor by name of Arthur Goldberg.

Mr. Johnson has gone to as many labor banquets and luncheons as an influential head waiter. There is virtually no labor project, or vital Labor Department project, with which he is not identified or on which he has not been consulted. Few vice presidents have spoken to as many labor conventions. He has talked to steelworkers, he has talked to needle workers.

AMOST UNNOTICED by the public, he has gone to a never-ending series of swearings in.

Typical was his speech at the State Department ceremony marking the appointment of former letter carriers union chief William Doherty as ambassador to Jamaica.

Johnson related how he and Doherty had gone to Jamaica's Independence Celebration. They were the two official U.S. delegates.

Johnson said he had reported to President Kennedy later how well received was the "face of friendship" which Doherty had presented to the people of Jamaica. After recounting the above incident, Johnson added, "It is right and proper (that) the face of the United States in Jamaica will now be the face of friendship, the face of labor."

Earlier it was Johnson who was invited by Arthur Goldberg to be a star speaker at the off-the-record briefing of labor reporters in Washington. Thus when he was up in New York recently he was able to greet scores of union chiefs by their first names.

So it does not seem likely that the same block which tried to stop his vice presidential nomination in '60 will buck him in '68. They're for him. Which means, in effect, that they believe only the vice presidential place is open.

This could be a Johnson-Kennedy ticket, at that. But there are those who see it differently.

THEY TALK of a LYNDON Johnson-Hubert Humphrey team for the '68 election.

Few are aware that the 54-year-old vice president and the 51-year-old senator from Minnesota were a quiet team in '60. Some of Johnson's people worked very closely with Sen. Humphrey during the latter's fight against John Kennedy in the historic primaries.

And it was during those primary battles that many of the national labor leaders went in to talk to the embittered senator. They had not supported him with the money and manpower needed for his nomination drive, though he had been one of their closest allies in the Congress for years.

They looked upon Humphrey as a leader then and they do now. But they did not support him then because they did not believe he could win the primaries or the national election. They would like to back him in future political frays.

Of course the imponderable is what President Kennedy will want in '68. But if he asks the labor people now what they envision, the insiders talk of a Johnson-Humphrey ticket.

The Squeeze On Castro

By MARGUERITE HIGGINS

The United States is going to put a steady economic-political squeeze on Fidel Castro that will—hopefully—price him out of the Soviet market for docile satellites.

Being considered are pressures ranging from requests that European and Latin American friends voluntarily restrict their traffic with the Cuban regime, to issuance of regulations that will forcefully inhibit free world trade with the island.

Officials who outlined Washington's post-crisis intentions pointed out that the Soviet Union is already pouring a million dollars a day into Cuba to keep Castro going.

As the inefficiencies of his Communist regime mount, the amount of support necessary to keep him going adds up, the price goes up—and a Kremlin cost accountant shopping for something inexpensive in the way of irritants to the West may begin to wonder whether the price is worth it.

OFFICIAL Communist sources in Havana have revealed that the Soviet Union has already poured $912 million into Cuba and in addition, the Iron Curtain countries as a whole are estimated to have shipped $1 billion worth of military hardware to the island, exclusive of the missiles already removed.

The aid to date has been mainly in new industrial plant, food, raw materials and transport equipment.

But the Castro regime's difficulties are enormous. The staple Cuban production is sugar cane. This year's harvest, in a downward spiral, is believed to have been the smallest in six years.

Livestock, slaughtered improvidently, have decreased in supply by 14 per cent. There is said to be a 15 per cent reduction in the daily caloric intake in the island.

The Soviet Union has agreed, as part of its campaign to strengthen the Cuban economy, to build an iron and steel plant there, the kind of thing undeveloped countries all over the world yearn for to show their strength.

But the Cuban record of in-trial production is not outstanding. For instance, the Moa Bay Mining Co. nickel-cobalt plant—an installation owned by Freeport Sulphur Co.—was confiscated along with numerous other American owned plants in 1960.

A $75 million installation, it would have been the second-largest nickel producer in the free world, the largest cobalt producer in this hemisphere.

WITH THE AID of Soviet and Czechoslovak technicians working there since early 1961, the Cubans have managed to get the plant into partial operation, may produce this year about 22 per cent of capacity production—at a time when every ton of capacity could be used to pay off Soviet debts.

Most of the Soviet aid to Cuba comes by sea. It's a long way from Eastern Europe and the freight charge is high. Roughly half the cargoes from the Communist world are carried in ships registered by American allies—Britain, Canada, Greece, Italy, Norway and West Germany.

With varying degrees of hostility, their merchants have been against giving up the Cuban trade because world shipping is in a slack season. During the blockade, of course they did little shipping.

Now the administration is dusting off the Four Point Plan it proposed Oct. 4 but shelved as the blockade went into operation. That plan runs this way:

1. Foreign shipowners would lose all cargo owned or financed by the U.S. government if one of their vessels engaged in trade to Cuba for the Soviet bloc.

2. The U.S. would close its ports to all ships of a country if any vessel under the flag of that country carried military equipment to Cuba.

3. Any ship that on the same, continuous voyage has delivered non-military Communist cargoes to Cuba would be banned from U.S. ports.

4. U.S. flag ships or U.S. owned ships would be forbidden from carrying goods to or from Cuba.

These obviously change the prohibition from voluntary to pressure—forced curbs. The State Department will probably issue them as regulations soon after the Soviet Union removes its medium bombers.

History Today

Today is Saturday, Dec. 1, the 335th day of 1962. There are 30 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this day in 1789, political refugee Adam Mappa arrived in New York from Holland with the first type-founding machinery to be used in the United States.

On this day: In 1783 the world's first hydrogen balloon, carrying two men, ascended from the Tuileries Gardens in Paris.

In 1865, habeas corpus rights were restored in the Northern states following the end of the Civil War.

In 1917, Norway, Denmark and Sweden agreed to maintain strict neutrality toward the belligerents in World War I.

In 1942, nationwide gasoline rationing became effective in the United States.

In 1955, a railroad passenger car of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad was operated by remote control for the first time in the United States.

Today's birthdays:

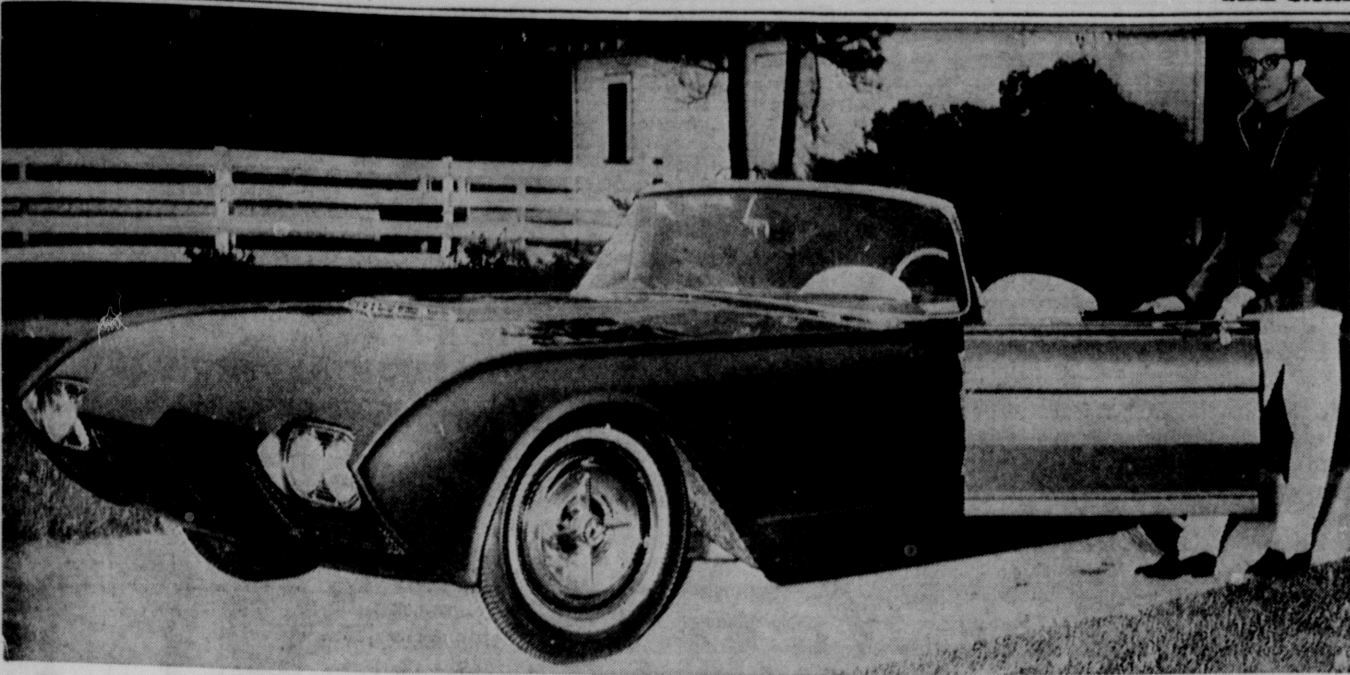

Actress Mary Martin is 45. Ballerina Alicia Markova is 52.

Thought for today: History is the essence of innumerable biographies—Thomas Carlyle.

tion we can give you at this time," he told newsmen.

A Peking Defense Ministry statement said the Chinese were moving back 12½ miles behind what Peking calls the line of control of Nov. 7, 1959. The broadcast statement called on India to "promptly take corresponding measures." India has been insisting on a Chinese pullback to their Sept. 8, 1962 positions as a basis for negotiations.

The soldiers of the two countries have been in visible contact at only a few places on the northeastern front since the Chinese proclaimed a cease-fire Nov. 22 and promised a troop withdrawal Dec. 1.

Peking coupled its announcement of a withdrawal with a warning that it was seriously concerned over what it called "armed provocations" by Indian troops against Chinese positions in the past few days. India has denied that any troop movements have been undermining the Chinese cease-fire.

The official New Chinese News Agency also said that the Indian government had failed to respond favorably to the Chinese peace proposals and had "continued to whip up war hysteria" and "solicit and received military assistance in large quantities from the United States and other Western countries."

India has repeatedly made clear that it objects to a provision of the Chinese cease-fire package on grounds that it would leave the Chinese in control of 2,000 square miles in Ladakh, in the northwest.

The Chinese news agency said Chinese Premier Chou En-lai wrote to Indian Prime Minister Nehru Nov. 28 that "only a handful of ill-intentioned people in the world want our two countries to keep on fighting."

Chou warned, however, that if China alone made the troop withdrawals this would not "prevent the recurrence of border clashes."

In a separate announcement, the Chinese news agency said 53 Indian military prisoners would be released Dec. 5.

At Tezpur, corps headquarters in northwest India, reporters said there was no indication what the Indian army plans to do, if anything, with territory vacated by the Chinese. This is a political question that the military is leaving to the government.

The Indian army continued to beef up its forces. Troops and equipment kept flowing to areas near the front. Trenches were dug Friday near all public buildings in Tezpur.

A snarl in the Indian-Pakistani agreement to begin talks on Kashmir was apparently smoothed out.

Nehru issued a statement that "there has never been any question of preconditions or of any restriction on the scope" of the talks. A Pakistani Cabinet member said the statement cleared the air after a stormy reaction in Pakistan to a previous Nehru statement to Parliament that it would be "very harmful" to upset the present situation in Kashmir.

Space Job

"Is that right?" Jeter asked the witness.

"Yes," Shepard replied.

At that point, lawyers from both sides went into conferences and were called to a meeting in the chambers of Judge Frank H. Harvey, who then ordered a recess until Monday.

International Latex spokesmen had no comment and Shepard was told not to discuss the case with newsmen.

Prior to the startling turn in the case, International Latex introduced a space suit worn by one of its engineers, George Durney, as evidence it had an advanced space suit program of its own and doesn't need know-how from Goodrich research.

Shepard had testified his company wanted Wohlgenuth for his "demonstrated ability to direct a team of scientists and for his general background in pressure suit work, and not in order to learn Goodrich secrets."

$9,300 Vehicle 2 Years In the Making

Salem Man Makes Own Sports Car

By CAROL CROFT

If you are looking for a new car but don't like any of the models on the market, make one out of fiberglass. That's what Ray Ward of Georgetown did.

His auto is not just any ordinary car, however. Prizes for performance, as well as appearance, come easily to Ray.

The five first places that he has copied in the five shows in which he has entered the car, including the national contest in Indianapolis sponsored by the National Hot Rod Association over Labor Day weekend, prove that all of the 2500 working hours spent on the project were worth it.

Judging in these contests is based on originality, workmanship, paint job and safety equipment.

BUT THE SALEM MAN is not interested in having the car just as a showpiece. He feels that it was made to be driven and that is what he is doing with it.

Some of the advantages of a fiberglass car which Ward notes in his vehicle, valued at $9,300, are that it is rust-proof, unable to be damaged by salt, it won't dent and a very strong impact is needed to harm it.

Ray, an employee at Miller-Holzworth, Inc., always had the desire and ambition to build a car with a fiberglass body. His interest in mechanical vehicles began when he lived on a farm as a child. Tractors were his interest at that time. From there he progressed to bicycles and finally, at a later age, to automobiles.

HIS TWO-SEATER HONDURA maroon sports car started as a design in July of 1960. In September of that year he started work on the chassis which he continued until March of 1961. During this time he also continued to work on the design.

Making molds for the body was begun in March of this year. The product of two years of work was finally completed Sept. 1.

Approximately nine steps are taken in making an automobile of this kind, but perhaps the most important ingredients are patience and perseverance.

Building a mock-up, or full-size plaster model, is the first step. This model will give a good indication of how the finished product will look.

FIBERGLASS MOLDS are made from the mock-up. When the molds are bolted together, the body is laid up in two main pieces inside the mold, front and back.

The only exterior seam is the rocker panel, or the strip underneath the door. The next step is to unbolt and pull off the molds.

Fiberglass is made by applying a liquid, polyester resin, to a cloth.

At this time, the front is laminated to the back and inner panels are added, such as the cockpit, inner fenders and inner trunk. Mounting the body on the chassis and bolting it to the frame is the next step followed by sanding and painting.

Interior upholstery and instruments are installed next. The final step is wiring the electrical system and adding chrome and grills.

ALTHOUGH MANY PEOPLE mistake Ward's model for a Thunderbird, he points out that the design is original and that there are quite a few notable differences between his car and the Thunderbird.

A 300-horsepower 1959 Corvette engine with Corvette drive-line, including engine, transmission and differential powers the 1955 altered Chevrolet frame. Measurements show the vehicle to be 14-and-one-half feet long, 72 inches wide and 32 inches high to the top of the doors.

An inspiration, and perhaps one of the principal reasons that Ray stayed with the project which many people begin but never complete, is his wife, Mitzi, who can explain the process of the project as well as or better than most men can. She also makes models and signs for the various shows in which the car is entered.

The couple, both 1956 Salem High School graduates, have two children, Kevin, age two, and Karen, three months. Mrs. Ward attended Capitol University where she majored in medical technology.

Ray was a student in the College of Commerce at Ohio State University.

Plans for another car might be in the offing as Ray states that the recently-completed model has become too small for the family which has doubled in size since he began planning the car.

Unions indicated they would seek an injunction to prevent the railroads from acting while an appeal is taken to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Chlorine Gas

Canadian Industrial Ltd. factory for shipment to Hull, Que.

Company officials said they believed a cylinder that carried liquid chlorine to the tank car had cracked.

The chlorine turned to gas as it came in contact with air.

Doctors described the gas as similar to that used in World War I. In severe cases, it can cause asphyxiation, heart failure and blindness.

The victims rushed to Cornwall's two hospitals were vomiting and coughing and had trouble breathing, doctors said. Several were placed in oxygen tents.

Ambulances arrived at the hospitals every few minutes as emergency staffs quickly assembled.

Among those overcome were a policeman and two ambulance attendants who drove into the stricken area.

The chlorine began to dissipate several hours after it stopped leaking from the cylinder.

turned aside Mikoyan's argument with a counter-argument that the Cuban situation is still unsettled in the absence of verification that all nuclear weapons are being removed and in the absence of safe guards against their secret re-entry.

Mikoyan, who spent more than three hours in a conference at the White House with Kennedy and Rusk late Thursday, met Friday with Rusk and other officials at the State Department for 2½ hours.

Since Mikoyan and Kennedy had already agreed to continue negotiations for a Cuban settlement through American and Soviet diplomats in New York, Rusk and Mikoyan spent most of their time on other problems.

Among these, they talked about the possibility of breaking the long deadlock over a nuclear weapons test ban, about other disarmament problems, and about Berlin.

No New Idea Produced

American officials said neither side produced any new ideas.

Mikoyan reportedly restated the position Russia takes on a test ban treaty that scientific devices are now available which would make it unnecessary to have international inspectors in the Soviet Union or any other country to police a treaty prohibiting tests. Rusk contended that the U.S. government knows of no such devices that would eliminate the need for any kind of inspection.

The discussion on Berlin was described as brief, with Mikoyan reaffirming Russia's desire for removal of Western troops from West Berlin and Rusk asserting Western determination to protect the city. Mikoyan, informants said, did not indicate any deadline for a Berlin showdown.

The atmosphere at the luncheon was described as friendly and relaxed. But in summing up results of the talks, informants said there was no breakthrough toward East-West agreement on any issue.

According to police, the Barton car came out of Penn Ave. and struck the Schuster vehicle which was stopped in the East-bound line of traffic.

formants have said progressive elements would like to see it reworked. They were said to feel it does not take into sufficient account the current spirit in inter-church relations.

Examined in the thesis, according to sources familiar with the document, are exclusively Roman Catholic beliefs on Christ's intentions in founding a church, the mission it would have and the marks that should identify it: unity, holiness, catholicity and apostolicity.

The thesis is said to focus attention on the sensitive area of Christian unity by explaining how all baptized Christians are members of the one church in a general sense.

It is this area where trouble can be expected among the council fathers, the sources said. "Catholic pastors have spiritual care and concern for all baptized persons, Catholic or not, within the confines of their diocese or parish," explained a council advisor.

"They have no jurisdiction over the non-Catholics of course." A priest-expert who advises the council said many council fathers, especially those considered progressives, are worried about whether the phrasing of the document might not retard efforts toward unity by being too rigid.

The same arguments were used in a battle within the council against a thesis on divine revelation last month. The document was finally ordered reworked by Pope John XXIII, who created a special commission to do the job.

came down," said Helen Fournier, 21, of Forest Hills, Queens, one of the two stewardesses on Eastern's Flight 512. Both survived.

Came Down With Bang
"Then we came down with a bang," she continued. "It was kind of quick. It seemed that the pilot was increasing the power, but we didn't get anywhere. Then there was a sort of flash. There was no explosion, though."

Several passengers recalled what seemed to be a desperate effort by Bechtold to get the lumbering aircraft back into the air. "The tail end of the plane hit the ground and the plane slewed around," said M. V. Little, 54, of Garden City, Long Island.

Hurling across a reed-filled marsh, 200 yards west of the runway, and scattering debris for 300 yards, the aircraft smashed to a halt and burst into flames.

It split open down the back. Seats were tossed into the foggy darkness, some with bodies still strapped into place for landing.

Walter Mueller of Floral Park, N.Y., told of the thoughts burned into his memory: "The first thing that enters your mind is: 'I've had it. You're not sure in your mind that you're living. You just do things.'"

"The flames came into the plane from the front end before we ever stopped," said Louft, producer of Louft Productions, Inc., a motion pictures firm.

He was returning from a commercial film assignment in Charlotte with his two partners, scriptwriter Frank Smith, 72, of Manhattan, and production manager Frank Kolarek, who lives near Idlewild. All survived.

Before leaving North Carolina, Kolarek rehearsed how to open the emergency exit beside his seat.

"Kolarek saved several of our lives because he got that window open immediately," Smith said. Passengers leaped and tumbled through the openings, driven by the flames and fear.

Wirtz Blames Lockheed In Aerospace Workers' Strike

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz has charged that Lockheed Aircraft Corp. was to blame for the strike against it this week by aerospace workers.

Presidential intervention halted the walkout after two days.

In a San Francisco news conference, Wirtz said Friday that Lockheed's "complete intransigence" on the question of a union shop vote precipitated the walkout Wednesday. The company, which is opposed to such a vote, had no comment.

Meanwhile, at a hearing of a special presidential committee in Burbank, an officer of the International Association of Machinists leveled a blast at Lockheed. The union wants the union shop issue put to a vote.

E. R. White, general vice president of the IAM, claimed the firm not only is against the union shop for its own employees but would like it outlawed generally. John E. Canaday, Lockheed vice president, admitted that the firm had "expressed its views on compulsory union membership in a statement to employees" in 1958.

"We were then opposed to compulsory union membership," he said. "We are now opposed to compulsory union membership."

Canfield Defeats Palestine 50-35

The Canfield High School Cardinals broke loose in the second half to beat East Palestine 50-35 before 800 fans in the East Palestine gym Friday night.

Canfield held a 9-7 edge at the end of the first quarter while Palestine was ahead 21-20 at halftime. The Cardinals pulled ahead and led 31-27 before going into the fourth period. In that frame the Bulldogs could find the hoop for only 8 points, Canfield getting 19. Pete Ort and Dan Coope led the Cardinals with 16 and 10 points, respectively.

Alfred Stratton, Retired Newsman, To Be 90 Dec. 23

Alfred H. Stratton, retired Salem newspaperman, will mark his 90th birthday Dec. 23 at the Wilbur Friends Home For the Aged at Barnesville, which he entered this week. For the past 61 years his residence has been at 615 E. 7th St.

Mr. Stratton began his duties as advertising manager of the Salem Daily News Feb. 18, 1901, when the plant was located on the second and third floors of what is now the Moose building, E. State St. The papers were hand-set and the four-page daily sold for two cents.

The editorial staff in 1901 was F. A. Douglas, editor, and the late George Overholt and Harry A. Gager, reporters. Mr. Stratton later worked in the editorial and circulation departments and also was a reporter for the old Daily Herald. In later years he sold insurance and magazines.

He published a Salem city directory in 1917.

When Edward and Mary H. Raley Stratton moved to Salem from Middleton Township, their son Alfred was a year old. Edward was a carpenter and builder. However, after locating here, he became associated with Daniel Bolton in making wooden pumps, which were used over the city until the Salem Water Works was built. As a teenager, Alfred and his brothers, Ed F., and the late Joseph R., would go to the country and bring in wild cherry trees to be planted into pumps.

The Stratton brothers received their elementary education in the little Friends schoolhouse, which is located next to the E. Sixth St. Friends Meeting House. This schoolhouse is now used for Bible school classes. All three boys attended the Friends Boarding School at Barnesville.

Mr. Stratton's parents came from Quaker ancestry. His great grandfather Stratton, one of the city's early pioneers, came to Salem from New Jersey, accompanied by his wife and 11 children. This family located northwest of the city in the vicinity of what is now the Stratton Rd.

After his marriage to Miss Mary Douglas of St. Clairsville Oct. 26, 1922, Alfred and his wife joined the First Methodist Church. Both were active in church affairs. He was a member of the Benedict Men's Bible Class, which disbanded several years ago because its aged members were unable to attend. There are still four other members of this class, Herbert A. Gross, 97; Roy Harris, 90; E. F. Naragon, 90, and Lyman Goodballet, 84. The men who are able to attend are now affiliated with the Unity Bible Class. Mr. Gross still walks to Sunday School every Sunday the weather is favorable.

Mrs. Stratton, who was a member of the Unity Class for years, died last March.

Advent Ceremony Participants Named

Bonnie Youtz and Richard Juhn will be in charge of ceremonies lighting the candle in the Advent Wreath commemorating the first Sunday in Advent at the 8:30 a.m. worship service Sunday at Holy Trinity Lutheran Church. Patty Schrom and Joe Bricker will officiate at the second service at 10:45 a.m.

One of the pre-Christmas customs which has come to America from Germany and the Scandinavian Countries is the religious ceremony centered around the lighting of four candles - one for each Sunday in Advent - in preparation for and anticipation of the celebration of a truly Christian Christmas.

Those participating in succeeding Sundays until the final service at the Christmas Eve service will be Mitzie Garrett, Jim Garrett, Fred Hartman, Kathy Hartman, Linda Nedelka, Dave Karn, Jeanne Halverstadt, Hilton Moffett, Kay Severny, Mickie Stack, Carl Ostrom, Maureen Thomas, Karl Fieldhouse and Linda Allen.

Hints From Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

DEAR HELOISE: My ironing goes faster when I pull my ironing board in front of a large mirror! I find myself smiling instead of frowning.

MABEL WREN.

DEAR HELOISE: My new plastic playing cards are lovely but impossible to deal and pick up from the card table. Does anyone know how to make them easier to handle?

MRS. MARTIN.

DEAR MRS. MARTIN: If you will read the directions that came with your plastic playing cards, I am sure that you will find it said in there—somewhere—that plastic cards should be played on a card table which has been covered with a card table cover. Did you know this?

I have what I call my company card table cover. I made it. Let me tell you how:

I bought a beautiful piece of black velveteen. My furniture is all black. I mitered the corners and sewed a small piece of elastic underneath the four corners such as we ordinarily find is done on most card table covers.

Now . . . where we usually put our coffee cup or soda bottle—it spots on velveteen—I took a little piece of gold embroidered cloth about four inches wide and six inches long and sewed these on all four corners.

This not only serves its purpose, but makes the card table look exquisite. These card table covers can be made out of any color of velveteen. It not only saves your cards, but makes them easier to pick up. This card table cover can be made very cheaply. One can buy a yard of material on remnant counters. These finished cloths sell like hotcakes at bazaars.

Army, Navy Meet In Traditional Grid Contest Today

West Point Leads In Series 30-26

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Army and Navy meet in their traditional football game today with the Middies confident of stretching their winning streak over the Cadets to four straight and the West Pointers determined to turn the tide under new coach Paul Dietzel.

A crowd of some 100,000, including President Kennedy, is expected for this 63rd meeting of the service academies, a thrill-packed series in which Army leads with 30 victories against 26 defeats. Five games ended in ties.

Neither of the academies has been a ball of fire this season, Army posting a 6-3 record against comparatively softer opposition, while Navy comes here with an undistinguished 4-5 mark. The oddsmakers have established the nationally televised game as a toss-up.

Dietzel came to West Point as head coach from Louisiana State after Dale Hall was fired last year, apparently for his failure to beat Navy in three tries.

Army relies mainly on a strong defense that enabled the Cadets to beat such teams as ninth-ranked Penn State and Syracuse, both of which defeated Navy. If you're looking for a comparative score basis, however, Army lost to Pitt, which in turn was routed by the Middies.

Dietzel will throw a three-unit team at the Navy. He has one team labeled the regulars, who play both offense and defense, a second eleven known as the go unit, which works on offense only, and the third group called the Chinese bandits, defensive specialists.

Navy coach Wayne Hardin, whose teams never have lost to Army, and who predicts confidently this year won't be any different, depends mostly on the passing arm of young Roger Staubach. The sophomore quarterback has completed 56 of 85 passes for 778 yards and 5 TDs.

Jim Kress Paces Rebels With 26 Points

Crestview Posts 47-32 Win Over North Lima

Led by Jim Kress, the Crestview Rebels started the 1962 cage season with a victory as they bounced the host North Lima Zippers 47-32 Friday night.

Kress swished the nets with 11 floor shots and four free throws to account for 26 of his team's points. John Stear was high for the losers with eight counters.

Crestview jumped to an early lead and was never threatened. The Rebels led 13-9 going into the second quarter, 23-15 as the teams left the floor at halftime and 37-23 entering the last canto.

In Reserve action, Crestview bettered the Zips 42-34.

Both teams return to action tonight as the Rebels are on the road at Greenford and North Lima travels to Canfield to battle the Cardinals.

The box scores are as follows:

CRESTVIEW — 47
Athey 4-2-10; Baker 2-1-5; Kress 11-4-26; Dickens 2-0-4; Cobourn 1-0-2.

Greenford Football Team Gets Awards At Banquet

GREENFORD—Football Coach Alfred Carrino spoke briefly and presented awards to players at the annual football banquet this week at the school.

Donald Stelts was master of ceremonies for the program attended by 150 persons.

Cheerleaders receiving awards were Marjorie Hiner, Nancy Miller, Nancy Norwood and Patricia Taylor.

James Tyo, president of the Greenford Booster Club, presented the senior players with the booster award: Robert Cook, Frank Hoffmann, John Ruse, Richard Arnold, Bill Hively and Phil Johnson.

Coach Carrino thanked the Booster Club for its fine support. Some of the things they accomplished this year are as follows:

1. Dental guards for all players;
2. Purchased a blocking dummy;
3. Built and erected a score-board;
4. Purchased a whirlpool bath for the school.

Gerald Suess, High School basketball coach, spoke briefly and then Morrison Poe was introduced as Junior High football coach who presented the following Junior High players with certificates: Terry Justice, John Bahr, Don Feren, Paul Handwork, Sherman Johnson, Charles Maxwell, Sam Pagani, Ted Wickers, Jack Coy, Jacob Eshler, George Gilby, David Hinely, Mike Less, Clifford Mead, Ronald Smith, Clark Wisler, manager, Mark Makoski, manager.

Giants To Try To Gain Title Against Bears

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Tough old Y. A. Tittle, the Bald Eagle of professional football, will be the man on the spot Sunday when the New York Giants attempt to clinch the Eastern Conference title in the National Football League.

The Giants, pounding toward a second straight conference crown, visit Chicago and the redoubtable, rebounding Bears. As usual, if the Giant offense is to be effective, the bald, aging Tittle must be able to connect on his passes.

New York (9-2) takes a six-game winning string, longest in the league, into the game and needs only one more victory to wrap up the title.

The Bears, 7-4 for the year, had their troubles early in the season but have leveled off of late.

The Giants also can back into the title, should Cleveland (6-4-1), Washington (5-4-2) and Pittsburgh (6-5) lose. The Redskins (5-4-2) are host to Philadelphia (2-8-1), Cleveland is at Dallas (4-6-1) and St. Louis (2-8-1) visits the Steelers.

Green Bay (10-1) is favorite to win the Western Conference, but holds only a one-game lead over rugged Detroit (9-2). The Packers could improve the margin against lowly Los Angeles (1-9-1) while Baltimore (5-6) visits Detroit.

San Francisco (5-6) is at Minnesota (2-8-1) in the other contest.

North Canton Rips Louisville In 1st Game

Louisville's Leopards suffered an inaugural loss Friday night as invading North Canton downed Coach Hap Lillick's crew 49-39.

The winners moved to a 14-11 advantage at the end of the first canto, led 25-16 at halftime and 41-25 at the three-quarter mark.

Dick Ballard and Larry Stortz combined for 24 of the victors' points. Ballard hit for five goals and four charity tosses for 19 counters while Stortz ended the game with 10 points. Larry Sommers was the only Leopard to end the game in double figures, connecting for 10.

Louisville will battle another Canton school in its next encounter. The Leopards will entertain Canton South next Friday.

The box scores are as follows:

NORTH CANTON — 49
Ballard 5-4-14; Castle 1-1-3; Stortz 4-2-10; Erbland 5-2-12; Piper 3-0-6; Snicker 1-0-2; Keyes 1-0-2; Totals: 20-49

LOUISVILLE — 39
Bardash 3-2-8; Lawver 1-1-3; Edwards 0-1-1; Sommers 5-3-12; Foster 1-1-3; Gladioux 3-2-8; Givens 3-0-6; Totals: 15-39

North Canton 14 25 41-49
Louisville 9 15 20-39

Colts Get Five New Players

Complete Trades With Giants, Braves

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The Houston Colts, carrying out their promise to make every effort to improve their club for 1963, acquired five players today in trades with San Francisco's defending Giants and the Milwaukee Braves.

The Houston newcomers are Don Nottebart, a right-handed pitcher from Milwaukee; and southpaw Dick Lemay and outfielder Manuel Mota from San Francisco. Two others, pitcher Connie Grob and outfielder Jim Bolger, both from Louisville, were shipped to the Colts' Oklahoma City farm club in the Pacific Coast League.

Lemay and Mota were obtained in a trade that sent second baseman Joe Amalfitano to the Giants. Nottebart, a 26-year-old relief pitcher, was purchased outright from the Braves for a reported $35,000.

Grob and Bolger, former major leaguers, came in exchange for Norm Larker, who was expected to be alternate with Tommy Aaron at first base for the Braves.

Larker became expendable when the Colts acquired Pete Runnels, the 1962 American batting champion, from the Boston Red Sox earlier this week in exchange for outfielder Roman Mejias.

"We'll keep trying to improve the team until we become a contender," said Houston General Manager Paul Richards. "We still have some ways to go, but we're going to get there."

Poland Edges Springfield Local 53-52

Coach Howard Kitzmiller's Poland Bulldog cagers got their season off on a winning note as they eeked out an exciting 53-52 overtime victory over visiting Springfield Local last night.

The regulation game ended in a 49-49 deadlock with Poland's Kim Stertbaugh connecting for two charity tosses and Roger Northall sinking a bucket in overtime to notch the win. Ron Sonecker hit for three points for the losers in overtime.

Sonecker was high - point man for the evening as he netted eight goals and seven foul shots for 23 tallies. Stertbaugh and Northall were high men for the winners with 11 and 10 points, respectively.

The Bulldog Reserves downed their Springfield Local counterparts in preliminary action.

Poland will be back in action next Friday at Canfield while Springfield Local returns to the hardwoods tonight at Youngstown Cardinal Mooney.

The box scores are as follows:

POLAND — 53
Stertbaugh 3-5-11; Northall 4-2-10; Bennett 0-2-3; Lindberg 2-2-3; Walter 5-4-14; Allen 1-2-4; Rosensteel 1-2-4; Totals: 17-19-53

SPRINGFIELD LOCAL — 52

Larry Simms Hits For 30 Counters As Minerva Wins

Veteran Larry Simms made the difference as the Minerva Lions rolled over visiting Malvern 64-55 Friday night in the winners' first appearance of the season.

Simms led his team with 30 points, hitting on 12 goals and six foul shots with Bill Schweinhart adding eight buckets and three charity tosses for another 19 points. C. L. Andrews paced the losers with 18 points.

Minerva led 13-7 at the end of the first period, 28-27 at the half and 51-41 going into the final canto.

The Lion 'Cubs' copped a 52-26 victory over the Malvern Reserves in preliminary action.

Minerva's next appearance will be next Friday when they travel to Hanover to battle the United Local Golden Eagles.

MINERVA — 64

W. Reserve Wins Opener Over Sebring

Dick Owen's 17 counters and Dean Shali's 15 sparked the Western Reserve Blue Devils to a 54-48 victory over visiting Sebring as both squads opened their 1962 night.

Sebring's Art Burns copped game scoring honors as he banged in eight floor attempts and added two charity tosses for 18 points. Burns got little support from his teammates, however, being the only Trojan to end the tilt in double figures.

The Blue Devils were ahead 13-11 at the quarter post but got into trouble in the second stanza as the visitors boasted a 26-21 lead at halftime. The Devils bounced back in the third period and held a 37-32 margin as the game entered the final frame.

Sebring Jayvees copped the preliminary match, downing their opponents 35-34 in a thriller.

Sebring will entertain United Local in action Saturday night while the Blue Devils travel to McDonald.

WESTERN RESERVE — 54
Rhodes 4-1-9; Shali 7-1-15; Owen 6-5-17; Candler 1-2-4; Miller 2-0-4; Ross 1-0-2; Keck 1-1-3.

Bobcats Post 63-49 Win

Displaying a well-balanced scoring attack, the Greenford Bobcats staved off a third period rally and went on to post an easy 63-49 victory over Mineral Ridge last night on the loser's home court.

Three Greenford cagers ended the contest in double-figures with versatile Bob Cook leading the group with 10 floor shots and six charity tosses for 26 counters.

Frank Hoffmann ended the tilt with 11 points followed closely by Tim Davis with 10. Ken Rhodes hooped 14 for the losers.

Greenford raced to an 18-6 advantage at the end of the first canto, but the host club cut their margin to 25-18 at the half and were down just three points (44-41) as the game entered the final stanza.

In Reserve action preceding the varsity clash, Mineral Ridge's Jayvees turned back their Greenford foes 29-12.

Greenford will be back on the hardwoods tonight, entertaining the invading Crestview Rebels.

Mineral Ridge, which opened its season with a win over Southington last week, is idle until next Friday when they travel to Lords-town.

The box scores are as follows:

GREENFORD — 63
Arnold 1-2-4; Johnson 2-0-4; Cook 10-6-26; Hoffmann 5-1-11; Davis 5-0-10; Tyo 4-0-8; Totals: 27-9-63.

HE GREW HAIR

Mr. T. A. Melton, Jr., of Hollidaysburg, Pa. (above) gave about 20 minutes of his time for an interview with a representative — saved and regrew his hair in only a few months with the exclusive home method. He did not have male pattern baldness.

HAIR SPECIALISTS

Home Treatment System

Will be in Alliance, Ohio Tomorrow Wednesday Only

The Ebb Hair Specialists' Staff Director, P. L. Starkey, on his regularly scheduled visit will be at the Lexington Hotel, Alliance, Ohio, Monday, Dec. 3. Every hair-worried person should take advantage of this great opportunity.

The Ebb method is known to many people all over the United States. You can have a conference with the Ebb representative regarding your hair and scalp problems at no cost to you whatsoever, learn how the scalp treatments work, and the results you can expect in a short period of time.

Results guaranteed by the Ebb organization. We don't ask you to take our word. You will be given a written guarantee from the beginning to end on a pro-rated basis.

Male pattern baldness is the cause of a great majority of cases of baldness and excessive hair loss, for which neither the Ebb method nor any other method is effective, and the Ebb method will not help those who are sick bald after years of gradual hair loss.

If your scalp is still creating hair and you have dandruff, or excessive hair fall, excessive oiliness, dryness, or itchy scalp, you should take 20 minutes of your time to see what you can do.

Many have reported satisfactory results from the methods used by Ebb. Why burden yourself with unhealthy hair and scalp? Anyway it costs you nothing to come in and learn how many people have been helped by the years of Ebb experience plus the wonderful opportunity for help it offers. Just go to the Lexington Hotel in Alliance, Ohio, on Monday, Dec. 3 only, between 1 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. Ask the Hotel Desk Clerk for P. L. Starkey. He will do the rest.

Interviews are given in private. You will not be embarrassed in any way.

Browns Favored Over Cowboys In Sunday's Contest

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns are favored to beat the Cowboys when the teams meet in Dallas Sunday for the second time this season. The Browns won 19-10 in Cleveland.

Coach Paul Brown's outfit (6-4-1) has lost only once in its last six games and is second in the National Football League's Eastern Conference. It has a longshot chance of winning the conference title and a good chance of finishing second and going to the Run-nerup Bowl in Miami.

The Browns were reported in good physical condition following Friday's workout at League Park.

Quarterback Eddie LeBaron and end Frank Clarke of the Cowboys, injured three weeks ago, are reported ready for action.

Cleveland fullback Jim Brown is on the rampage again after being hampered by a wrist injury in the early season and has scored seven touchdowns in the last two games. He needs only four TDs in the three remaining games to beat the NFL record of 18 in a season, which he already shares.

The Browns also will count heavily again on quarterback Frank Ryan, who in the last two games he has led the Browns to a total of 73 points in convincing victories over St. Louis and Pittsburgh. He completed 34 of 24 passes without a single interception in those two games.

Salineville Bows To Jefferson Union

A fourth period spurt by visiting Jefferson Union gave the Falcons a 53-49 victory over the Indians of Salineville in action last night. It was the first tilt of the season for both teams.

Dave Marshall was a one-man-gang for the victors as he riddled the hoops with eight goals and nine free throws for a game high of 27 points. Glenn Pitts and Tom McGuire led the home town crew with 14 counters each.

In preliminary action the Salineville Reserves dumped the visitors 36-25.

Coach Al Girone's Indians will return to action tonight when they travel to Jewett in an effort to get into the win column.

The box scores are as follows:

JEFFERSON UNION — 53

A word from THERON at the Country Store

We were just looking over last year's sales records and we are very happy to tell you that more people are shopping at the Country Store now than were last year when we were giving out those silly trading stamps.

It's just like Lincoln said. You can't fool all the people all the time.

Congratulations, Jim, on your decision to drop stamps. Now I can come in to your fine restaurant again when I am in Salem.

Columbiana Musical Program Set Sunday

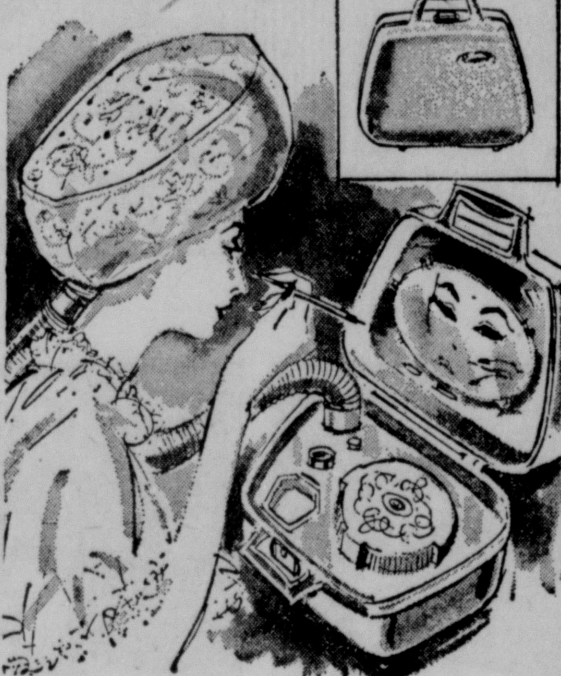

By MRS. RAY FEICHT (IV 2-2073)

COLUMBIANA — Arrangements for the program for the annual Christmas "Singspiration" sponsored by the Golden Link Class of Grace Lutheran Church at 7:30 p.m. Sunday have been completed.

Handel's "Overture," the organ prelude, will be played by Mrs. Karl Bott, followed by the choir processional, "O Come All Ye Faithful."

To My Own Dear Santa —

You asked me for a gift hint — I'll do more — Here is a picture of what I'd LOVE to have.

Sue Dickens will give the welcome. A vocal solo, "A Babe Lies in This Cradle Warm" by Mrs. H. Thiedt will be followed by the Saxon Chorus, under the direction of Karl Meinhardt, singing "Sing Ye Noel" and "Carol of the Drums."

A brass ensemble, comprised of Marion Lazear, Jerry Justice, Glen Churfield, Nancy Lower, Carol Wingard, John Cole and Jim Ward, will perform selections from "Water Music."

Lee Bauman will read the Christmas story from Luke. "A Long, Long Time Ago" and "Sweet Little Baby" will be sung by the Cherub Choir.

The John Golden family will sing "No Candle Was There and No Fire" followed by a vocal quartet of Mary Drew Jim Koehler, Gail Spanable and Tom Pfund singing "What Child Is This" and "On Christmas Night."

Lee Swope will perform a vocal solo, "He's Got the Whole World in His Hands." Offertory will be "O Holy Night" played on the piano and organ by Barbara Bauman and James Leonard.

"The Birthday of a King" is the title of a vocal duet by Mrs. Tom Richardson and Lowell Zeigler. Mrs. Melvin Nulf, Mrs. David Kurtz, Mrs. R. Rupert and Mrs. J. Swope comprise a vocal quartet which will sing "Christmas Hymn."

A violin solo, "Angels Serenade," will be performed by Joseph Hudak. Saxon Chorus will sing "Snow Lay on the Ground" followed by a vocal solo, "Let There Be Peace on Earth" by De Erla Smith.

A carol sing by the congregation, the benediction, chimes and postlude, "Hark, A Thrilling Voice Is Sounding," will conclude the program.

COLUMBIANA DeMolays will sponsor a record hop tonight at the Dixon school from 8:30 to 11:30. "Swinging Sweeney" disc jockey from Youngstown, will spin the platters.

Mrs. Florence Campbell, hostess for the Welcome Wagon, recently called on Mrs. Barbara Turek, formerly of Cleveland, who is making her home with her daughter, Mrs. Marie Vogelsang of 38 N. West St. Mrs. Turek, 90 years young, is a great - great - grandmother. Mrs. Harriet Hoksang, and her five children of 48 N. Pearl St. are grand and great-grandchildren of Mrs. Turek.

"LADIES NIGHT" will be observed by the Rotary Club members Monday night at Valley Golf Club.

Maurice Michaud will show colored slides that he took during a trip to Europe last summer. Dr. W. D. Jones, chairman of the social committee, is in charge.

The Kiwanis Club also will hold a "Ladies Night" program Monday, but at South Side School. The newly-elected officers will be inducted during the program.

Mrs. Richard Dunbar and Mrs. Harold Campbell, representing the Women's Association of the Columbiana Presbyterian Church, spent two days this week at the Pittsburgh Theological Seminary. They attended the regional seminar entitled "Target Africa." Ambassador Gershon Collier of Sierra Leone, the head delegate from his country to the United Nations, was one of the speakers.

MISS REBECCA WAY, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lou Way of Maple Drive, was recently chosen queen of the 12th annual ROTC Air Force Ball at Allegheny College, Meadville, Pa. She is a freshman at Allegheny. Rebecca was Columbiana High School's 1961 Homecoming queen.

Jon Edward is the name chosen by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ripple of Youngstown for their new son born Nov. 25 at North Side Hospital. Mrs. Ripple is the former Lois Glenn, daughter of Mrs. Randall Glenn of Fairfield Ave.

To insert news in this column, please call Mrs. Ray Feicht (Jane), IV 2-2073.

COLUMBIANA SENIOR Citizens Club met Tuesday with 70 persons attending the all day "Drop In" meeting.

Eight tables of games and the making of cancer pads were the pastime.

A short business meeting, conducted by the president, Judge Donbar, was held. Plans for the Christmas dinner Dec. 11 were completed.

The following committees were appointed: table decorations and setting, Mrs. Orville Fisher, Mrs. Blair Householder, Mrs. Vernon Crouse and Minnie Esenwein; room decorating committee, Mr. and Mrs. Penrose Schaffer, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bundy, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Exten and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Frederick; coffee committee, Mrs. Olive Fry and Mrs. Erma Fisher.

Several Epsilon Sigma Alpha Club members will serve the meal. Mrs. Bertha Bierman will recite the Christmas story and Mrs. Fred Grossen will give a short resume of "Christmas around the World."

Each person is to bring his own silverware. Dishes are furnished.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Holloway were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Holloway, south of Salem.

Mrs. G. B. Bauman, a teacher in Leetonia schools, left Wednesday to attend the Ohio Eastern Association representative assembly in Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wiggers of S. Middle St. are the parents of a son born Monday in the Salem City Hospital.

A recent guest of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sanders of E. Park St., was Richard Magill of Signal.

Mr. and Mrs. William Ferrall, Russell Ferrall and Richard Ferrall were recent dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Converse of East Fairfield.

COLUMBIANA KNITTING Club met Wednesday with Mrs. Thelma Gatson, with 12 members present. Plans for the Christmas dinner and gift exchange at Knight's Restaurant in Canfield at 7 p.m. Dec. 8 were completed.

Mr. and Mrs. John Fisher of Fairmount, Minn. visited recently at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Chaddock.

Mr. and Mrs. Fisher are on a short honeymoon trip, having been married Nov. 24, in the Lutheran Church in Fairmount.

Fisher is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Fisher. Mrs. R. Fisher is the former Margaret Chaddock.

Ex-Wyoming Senator Mahoney Succumbs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney of Wyoming, a strong foe of monopoly in business, died today at the age of 78.

Officials at the U.S. Naval Hospital in nearby Bethesda, Md., declined to give the cause of death. A heart attack in 1959 left him partially paralyzed and a secretary said he entered the hospital 19 days ago for treatment of a heart ailment.

A staunch New Deal and Fair Deal Democrat for the most part, O'Mahoney served in the Senate from his appointment late in 1933 until his retirement in 1960, except for a two year span from 1952-54.

He was the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt's Far West campaign manager in the 1932 presidential election and served most of 1933 as first assistant postmaster general.

Lisbon Kiwanis Club Officers To Meet

LISBON — Courtney Pennell, manager of the local Ohio Fuel and Gas Company office, who will take over the reins as Kiwanis Club president Jan. 1, has called a meeting of officers, board members and committee chairmen for Wednesday at the Wick Hotel.

Dinner will be served at 6 p.m. in the dining room, and the meeting will follow at 7 in the conference room, Pennell said. He succeeds James L. McBride.

$700 Netted at Recent United School Festival

Approximately $700 was cleared at the recent United School fall festival sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association.

General chairmen of the event were Mr. and Mrs. John Hindman and Mr. and Mrs. Franz Scott.

Proceeds will be used for necessary school equipment.

TO BEGIN OPERATION

CINCINNATI (AP)—A department for space re-entry systems begins operations Monday at General Electric Co.'s Evendale plant with a nucleus of 100 employees. The department, a branch of the firm's missile and space division, is expected to employ up to 400 in full operations.

Talks Broken Off In Newspaper Strike

CLEVELAND (AP)—Clevelanders were without their daily newspapers for the second day today, and prospects for a quick settlement of a strike against the city's two major daily papers appeared dim.

Representatives of striking Teamsters Local 473, representing 405 delivery drivers, and the publishers talked more than five hours Friday afternoon and evening. Reports were there was little progress, if any. Working conditions and wages were cited by a union official as issues.

Federal Mediator Gilbert J. Seldin, who called the two sides together, said no further talks had been scheduled. The negotiations were broken off subject to call, Seldin said.

The Cleveland Newspaper Guild representing 450 members of editorial and commercial departments, voted to strike also in support of contract demands. The Guild did not set up picket lines but said Teamster picket lines would be respected.

Columbiana Scout Council Commended

LISBON — Columbiana Council, Boy Scouts of America, was congratulated recently by W. B. Hubbell, regional executive, for leading the region, composed of Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky, in the signing up of new scouts.

The local council's gain was 10.1 per cent. It was the first time the county council led the region in memberships.

Howard Firestone of Salem is president of the local council.

Dr. W. E. DeVol, medical missionary recently returned from Central India where he served two terms as surgeon in charge of the Ohio Yearly Meeting of Friends Hospital at Chhatapur, will speak and show pictures of India at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in the Southeast Friends Church.

Dr. DeVol was born in China where his parents served for many years as medical missionaries. He is a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons and International College of Surgeons.

Rev. George Robinson is pastor of the church.

TWO DRIVERS FINED

LISBON — Two motorists were fined a total of $15 and costs Friday by County Judge James L. MacDonald on traffic charges, and two others forfeited bonds when they failed to appear for hearings.

Rocco R. DeMart, 47, of 212 W. 7th St., Salem, was fined $5 for speeding, and Felix Hicks, 40, Kensington, $10, for failure to transfer registration.

Steve E. Keltan, 19, Akron, forfeited a $20 bond for crossing a yellow line, and David D. Oyer, 32, Paris, $15 bond for failure to yield the right of way. All were cited by the State Patrol.

REVENUE RECORD SEEN

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ohio Turnpike revenues will set a record this year, predicts James W. Shocknessy, Turnpike Commission chairman. Shocknessy reports November revenues of $1,935,000 made it the best November for the turnpike since the toll road opened.

DIES IN CAR CRASH

ASHLAND, Ohio (AP)—Robert J. Elenin, 21, of Lorain was killed in a traffic accident on Ohio 58 about 17 miles north of here Friday night. Highway Patrol said Elenin's car sideswiped an auto backing out of a private drive, went on out of control for a quarter mile and rammed a tree.

Salem Driver Fined, Jailed on 5 Counts

James H. Jeffrey Jr. of RD 3, Salem, was fined a total of $50 and costs and sentenced to six months in Columbiana County jail Friday after he pleaded guilty to five separate traffic counts in Northwest County Court.

Judge Luther Donbar imposed cash penalties of $25 and costs for falsely obtaining certificates and registration plates, $10 and costs for speeding, $10 and costs for driving while operator's license was suspended, and $5 and costs for intoxication while driving. Fifth charge was failure to surrender operator's license as requested by the registrar.

Jeffrey originally had pleaded innocent to the charges.
